REPORT

OF THE

COMMITTEE ON CEMETERIES,

FOR THE YEAR ENDING MARCH 1, 1885.

In compliance with article 7th of the rules and regulations for the care of the cemeteries, adopted March 13, 1883, the committee would respectfully submit the following report:—

Received from sale of 14 burial lots in cemetery on the plain,	$ 52 00
Received from sale of 16 burial lots in cemetery on the hill,	50 00
	<hr style="width: 50px; display: inline-block; vertical-align: middle;"/>	$102 00
Paid P. S. Call, for labor and care of cemeteries on the plain,	$ 5 00
Geo. C. Wheaton, for labor in cemetery on the hill,	2 25
W. D. Cochran, labor in cemetery on the hill,	2 50
	<hr style="width: 50px; display: inline-block; vertical-align: middle;"/>	$ 9 75

Your committee in submitting this, their first annual report, would say, that the care and labor on cemeteries has been less the past year than it probably will be in the future, on account of the thoroughness of the work done by the committee of improvement.

Of the burial lots sold as above reported, twenty-one are to residents of the town, one to a non-resident, and nine to those who once lived in town, but have removed to other localities, having friends or connections buried here, who gladly embraced the opportunity to contribute to the fund for the care of the cemeteries, and we fully believe that as the method for the care of the cemeteries shall become better known to our citizens, and to those who have friends buried here, but have removed from town, that they will contribute to the enlargement of the fund, either by the purchase of lots or by donations, so that the income will be sufficient for the perpetual care of the cemeteries. The funds now remaining in the hands of the committee, and any that may hereafter come into their hands, to be invested in such a way that it can be used for no other purpose.

BOOKS PRESENTED DURING THE YEAR :

Reports of New Hampshire, several pamphlets by Bureau of Education. Also several pamphlets from Department of the Interior, likewise Rev. J. S. Cogswell has presented a book curiosity, entitled "Truth," by the murderer of President Garfield. It was given to Mr. Cogswell by Rev. Mr. Dunham of Boston. During the past year 44 books have been rebound for the Library.

We are glad to report to you that more books have been taken out from the library the past year than the year preceding. We feel that the Nesmith Library should be used by all the families in Windham, in order to contribute to their mental culture and general amount of knowledge. Good books are as good friends. People of former generations come into our homes and talk with us. They impart their knowledge and wisdom to us most faithfully. They do not complain at our deficiencies. When we push them away from us, they do not complain at our rudeness. When we are ready to hear them again they come smiling, and begin their speech where they had been forced to break off. Hence we ought to prize all good books, and welcome them to our homes. When Livingstone, Stanley, Bacon, Everett and Daniel Webster, Rufus Choate, and other great and eminent men come into your homes, as authors, treat them most courteously. Listen to their interesting and instructive language. Profit by having them as your visitors. The Rev. James Freeman Clarke says, "Good books take us away from our small troubles and petty vexations into a serene atmosphere of thought, nobleness, truth. They are solace in sorrow, and companions in joy." Montaigne, who is said to have had a passion for books, remarks, "The principal use of reading to me is, it rouses my reason." Lord Bacon has wisely said this: "Reading makes a full man, conference a ready man, and writing an exact man."

Hoping that you all may make a wise selection in your books to read this coming year, and congratulating you, our fellow citizens, on the present general prosperity of the Nesmith Library, we most respectfully submit this report, for the year ending March 1st, 1885.

In behalf of the Trustees,

JOSEPH S. COGSWELL.

REPORT

—OF THE—

SUPERINTENDING SCHOOL COMMITTEE,

FOR THE YEAR ENDING MARCH 1, 1885.

Time in his onward march bringing around the seasons, apprises us that the fiscal year draws to a close; when the various reports must be forthcoming; and very truly has the Poet said "Thus to give time a tongue is wise in man," that we may be constantly admonished of our duty.

In remarking upon our schools the past year, we are happy to state that as a general thing, the terms have been prosperous, and in some instances the progress was very marked; preserving a happy and very laudable degree of interest, combined with a pleasant, active and healthy state of body and mind throughout; whereas in other instances the ambition and vital energies of both scholars and teacher were allowed to languish; consequently the advancement we so confidently expected at the first, was not attained.

But schools have their periods; and that which in some instances seems to be a wonderful success, may be owing, in part, to the ages of the scholars; the undivided attention that they are enabled to give to their studies, their powers of body and mind, not too powerfully taxed at home before and after school; the degree of interest the scholar may take in some favorite branch, as well as an orderly and quiet schoolroom, all conspire to bring about the desired results.

So it is well to take courage when we can see good, healthy progress, whether it be slow but sure, or more rapid and showy. Education is a plant of slow growth and the work needs to be done with care and accuracy.

THE ELOCUTIONARY

department, in many cases, has received a very good degree of attention, much to the credit of both teacher, and scholar, this is what we have long hoped to see and as there is now a very good commencement, we hope to see it continued with the same watchful care and interest.

THE PRINCIPALS OF LANGUAGE, commonly called the study of grammar, seem to be, with many scholars of the present day, ranked among the lost arts; they have no taste for, no patience with the text-book as a study; and why we ask? Is not the difficulty at home, do fathers and mothers instil into the minds of their children, even before they are old enough to commence the contest with nouns and pronouns, adjectives and adverbs that it is indispensable, that it is one of those studies that must be attacked and attacked with a resolution to conquer?

When the mind is young and plastic, it should be studiously turned in the right direction; then the hardest part of the battle is accomplished. We are very much pleased, however, to note the good progress of a few lasses in grammar which promises a well stored mind for those soon to come on the stage of action, and they may rest assured they will never regret the time spent if only they have made thorough work.

The introduction of spelling blanks is proving a wonderful stimulant in the course of a correct knowledge of orthography; some of the books showing a series of perfect lessons throughout the term, and we have good reason to believe it was a correct report, although of a high standard; many others showing a record of over 90 per cent. which is also very good.

GEOGRAPHY

holds its rank among the branches taught with grace and dignity, evidently not proposing to take a position of the second order, still if the wall maps could be more fully used, it would doubtless be a step in the right direction. What the eye of the scholar can rest upon is more sure to be retained.

MATHEMATICS,

considered by some as the all important branch, with which to gain a livelihood if not the only one needed, has put in its appearance in good time and measure, so that the scholars have been able to acquit themselves with definiteness under examination.

PHYSIOLOGY

has been introduced the present year according to an act of the Legislature and by the advice of the State officials we have placed in the schools a treatise by William T. Smith, M. D., of Dartmouth Medical College.

TEACHERS.

We could not well ask for a greater number of applicants or candidates from which to select but great care should be taken in deciding before a contract is made. We are told by some that if they employ a teacher, and the superintending committee gives a certificate that is all they have to do, but how is it if the superintending committee in their best judgment decide otherwise; do they acquiesce? Not with good grace but contend to the bitter end, as though the final judgment of a town's committee was to be bartered, sold or in any way intimidated.

The course of a superintending committee is marked out very plainly and distinctly. In the first place three commissioners were appointed from the best lawyers in the State to prepare a code of laws; then these laws were passed upon by the full bench and also tested by all the courts of the State which we think is sufficient evidence of their correctness.

Then who expects a superintendent to be infallible, so as in every instance, to decide on an hour's acquaintance with a perfect stranger, in regard to all the qualifications for a proper instructor of the young?

Respectfully submitted,

B. E. BLANCHARD.

Superintending School Com. of Windham.
